SIXTH EDITION

Health Promotion in Nursing Practice

WY 100 P46H 2011
B0046215
Health promotion in nursing pract...
ห้องสมุดวิทยาลัยพยาบาลบรมราชชนนี นครราชสีมา

Nola Pender
Carolyn Murdaugh
Mary Ann Parsons

CONTENTS

Foreword xv
Preface xvii
Reviewers xviii

Introduction: Global Health Promotion: Challenges of the 21st Century 1

Part 1 The Human Quest for Health 13

Chapter 1 Toward a Definition of Health 14
Health as an Evolving Concept 16
Health and Illness: Distinct Entities or Opposite Ends of a Continuum? 17
Definitions of Health That Focus on Individuals 18
Health as Stability 18
Health as Actualization 20
Health as Actualization and Stability 22
An Integrated View of Health 24
Definitions of Health That Focus on the Family 24
Definitions of Health That Focus on the Community 25
Social Determinants of Health 27
Social Determinants and Global Health 28
Conceptions of Health Promotion 28
Measurement of Health 29
Opportunities for Research on Health 30
Considerations for Practice in the Context of Holistic Health 30
Summary 31 • Learning Activities 31 • Selected Web Sites 31

Chapter 2 Individual Models to Promote Health Behavior 35
Human Potential for Change 37
Use of Theories and Models for Behavior Change 37
Social Cognition Theories and Models 37
The Health Belief Model 38
Theory of Reasoned Action and Theory of Planned Behavior 40
Self-Efficacy and Social Cognitive Theory 42
The Health Promotion Model 44
Theoretical Basis for the Health Promotion Model 44

The Health Promotion Model (Revised) 44
Individual Characteristics and Experiences 45
Behavior-Specific Cognitions and Affect 46
Commitment to a Plan of Action 49
Immediate Competing Demands and Preferences 49
Behavioral Outcome 50
Stage Models of Behavior Change 51
Transtheoretical Model 51
Interventions for Health Behavior Change 53
Raising Consciousness 53
Reevaluating the Self 53
Promoting Self-Efficacy 54
Enhancing the Benefits of Change 54
Modifying the Environment 56
Managing Barriers to Change 57
Tailoring Behavior Change Interventions 58
Maintaining Behavior Change 60
Ethics of Behavior Change 60
Opportunities for Research with Health Behavior Theories and Models 61
Considerations for Practice in Motivating Health Behavior 61
Summary 62 • Learning Activities 62 • Selected Web Sites 62

Chapter 3 Community Models to Promote Health 67
The Concept of Community 68
Community Interventions and Health Promotion 69
Community Ecological Models and Theories 70
Social Ecological Model 71
Social Capital Theory 73
Community Planning Models for Health Promotion 74
The PRECEDE–PROCEED Model 74
Community Dissemination Models to Promote Health 76
Diffusion of Innovations Model 76
Social Marketing Model 79
Opportunities for Research With Community-Based Models 81
Considerations for Practice Using Community Models of Health 81
Summary 82 • Learning Activities 82 • Selected Web Sites 82

Part 2 Planning for Health Promotion and Prevention 87

Chapter 4 Assessing Health and Health Behaviors 88

Nursing Frameworks for Health Assessment 91
Guidelines for Preventive Services and Screenings 93
Assessment of the Individual Client 94
Physical Fitness 94
Nutrition 99
Life Stress 101
Spiritual Health 104
Social Support Systems 105
Lifestyle 108
Assessment of the Family 109
Assessment of the Community 112
Opportunities for Research in Health Assessment 114
Considerations for Practice in Assessment of Health and Health Behavior 115
Summary 115 • Learning Activities 115 • Selected Web Sites 116

Chapter 5 Developing a Health Promotion-Prevention Plan 120

Guidelines for Preventive Services and Screenings 121
The Health-Planning Process 122
Review and Summarize from Data Assessment 122
Emphasize Strengths and Competencies of the Client 123
Identify Health Goals and Related Behavior-Change Options 123
Identify Behavioral or Health Outcomes 125
Develop a Behavior-Change Plan 128
Reinforce Benefits of Change 128
Address Environmental and Interpersonal Facilitators and Barriers to Change 129
Determine a Time Frame for Implementation 129
Formalize Commitment to Behavior-Change Plan 130
The Revised Health Promotion-Prevention Plan 135
Community-Level Health Promotion-Prevention Plan 135
Opportunities for Research in Behavior Change 135
Considerations for Practice in Health Planning 136
Summary 136 • Learning Activities 136 • Selected Web Sites 137

Part 3 Interventions for Health Promotion and Prevention 139

Chapter 6 Physical Activity and Health Promotion 140

Health Benefits of Physical Activity 141
Potential Risks of Physical Activity 143
Genetics, Environment, and Physical Activity 144
Prescribing Physical Activity to Achieve Health Benefits 144
Promoting Physical Activity Across the Life Span 145
Promoting Physical Activity in Children and Adolescents 147
Physical Activity and Gender 147
Implementing Guidelines for Physical Activity 148
Promoting Physical Activity in Families 150
Promoting Physical Activity in Schools 150
Promoting Physical Activity in Adults and Older Adults 151
Gender and Physical Activity 152
Implementing Physical Activity Guidelines 153
Promoting Physical Activity in the Work Site 156
Interventions in the Community to Promote Physical Activity 157
Changing the Built Environment to Promote Physical Activity 159
Designing Physical Activity Interventions for Diverse Populations 161
Opportunities in Physical Activity Research 162
Considerations for Practice to Promote Physical Activity 163
Summary 164 • Learning Activities 164 • Selected Web Sites 164

Chapter 7 Nutrition and Health Promotion 169

Promoting Healthy Diets and Nutrition 170
Nutritional Health of Americans 170
Dietary Guidelines for Americans 171
MyPyramid: A Personalized Approach to Healthy Eating 173
Issues in Under-Nutrition 174
Factors Influencing Eating Behavior 175
Genetic-Biologic Factors 175
Psychological Factors 177
Socioeconomic and Cultural Factors 178
Environmental Factors 179
Health Policy Factors 180

Nutritional Needs of Special Populations 180
Infants and Children 180
Adolescents 181
Older Adults 182
Promotion of Dietary Change 183
Interventions to Promote Dietary Change 184
Research-Tested Intervention Programs (RTIPs) 185
Promoting Healthy Living: Assessing More Effects (PHLAME) 185
Body and Soul 186
Strategies for Maintaining Recommended Weight 186
Strategies for Initiating a Weight-Reduction Program 186
Opportunities for Research in Nutrition and Health 188
Considerations for Practice in Nutrition and Health 189
Summary 189 • Learning Activities 189 • Selected Web Sites 190

Chapter 8 Stress Management and Health Promotion 194
Stress and Health 197
Stress Across the Life Span 198
Approaches to Stress Management 201
Minimizing the Frequency of Stress-Inducing Situations 201
Increasing Resistance to Stress 203
Complementary Therapies to Manage Stress 206
Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction (MBSR) 206
Progressive Relaxation Through Tension-Relaxation 207
Opportunities for Research on Stress Management 211
Considerations for Practice in Stress Management 211
Summary 211 • Learning Activities 212 • Selected Web Sites 212

Chapter 9 Social Support and Health 216
Social Networks 217
Social Integration 219
Social Support 219
Functions of Social Support Groups 221
Family as the Primary Support Group 222
Community Organizations as Support Groups 223
Peers as a Source of Support 224
Virtual Communities as a Source of Support 225
Assessing Social Support Systems 226

Social Support and Health 226
Social Support and Health Behavior 228
Enhancing Social Support Systems 229
Facilitating Social Interactions 229
Enhancing Coping 229
Preventing Loss of Support and Loneliness 229
Opportunities for Research in Social Support 230
Considerations for Practice in Social Support 231
Summary 231 • Learning Activities 231 • Selected Web Sites 232

Part 4 Evaluating the Effectiveness of Health Promotion 235

Chapter 10 Evaluating Individual and Community Interventions 236
Purpose of Evaluation 237
Approaches to Evaluation for Health Promotion Interventions 238
Efficacy or Effectiveness Evaluation 238
Process or Outcome Evaluation 239
Mixed Methods Evaluation 239
Deciding Which Health Outcomes to Measure 240
Nursing-Sensitive Outcomes 240
Individual, Family, and Community Outcomes 242
Short-Term, Intermediate, and Long-Term Outcomes 243
Economic Outcomes 243
Evaluating Evidence for Practice 246
Evaluation of Interventions with Individuals and Communities 247
Individuals 248
Community 250
Strategies for Effective Health Promotion Interventions 253
Designing the Intervention 253
Selecting Outcomes 253
Deciding Time Frame 254
Sustaining Behavior Change 254
Opportunities for Research in Evaluating Health Promotion 255
Considerations for Practice in Evaluating Health Promotion 256
Summary 256 • Learning Activities 257 • Selected Web Sites 257

Part 5 Health Promotion in Diverse Populations 263

Chapter 11 Self-Care for Health Promotion Across the Life Span 264

Self-Care or Self-Management 265
Self-Care and Health Literacy 267
Orem's Theory of Self-Care 267
Self-Care to Promote Health Throughout the Life Span 269
Self-Care for Children and Adolescents 269
Self-Care for Young and Middle-Aged Adults 271
Self-Care for Older Adults 273
Goals of Health Education for Self-Care 275
The Process of Empowering for Self-Care 275
Mutually Assess Self-Care Competencies and Needs 277
Determine Learning Priorities 278
Identify Short- and Long-Term Objectives 278
Facilitate Self-Paced Learning 278
Use Positive Reinforcement to Increase Perceptions of Competence and Motivation for Learning 279
Create a Supportive Environment for Learning 279
Decrease Barriers to Learning 280
Evaluate Progress Toward Health Goals 280
Other Considerations in Self-Care Empowerment 281
The Role of the Internet in Self-Care Education 281
Opportunities for Research in Self-Care 282
Considerations for Practice in Self-Care 282
Summary 283 • Learning Activities 283 • Selected Web Sites 283

Chapter 12 Health Promotion in Vulnerable Populations 286

Health Disparities in Vulnerable Populations 287
Promoting Health Equity 289
Health Care Professionals and Cultural Competence 291
Designing Culturally Competent Health Promotion Programs 293
Strategies for Culturally Appropriate Interventions 297
Opportunities for Research with Vulnerable Populations 298
Considerations for Practice with Vulnerable Populations 299
Summary 299 • Learning Activities 299 • Selected Web Sites 300

Part 6 Approaches for Promoting a Healthier Society 303

Chapter 13 Health Promotion in Community Settings 304

Health Promotion in Families 305
Health Promotion in Schools 306
Health Promotion at the Work Site 308
Health Promotion in Nurse-Managed Health Centers 310
The Community as a Setting for Health Promotion 312
Creating Health Partnerships 313
The Role of Partnerships in Education and Research 315
Opportunities for Research in Community Settings 316
Considerations for Practice to Promote Health in Diverse Settings 317
Summary 317 • Learning Activities 317 • Selected Web Sites 318

Chapter 14 Promoting Health Through Social and Environmental Change 321

Health as a Social Goal 322
Health in a Changing Social Environment 324
Promoting Health Through Public Policy 326
Promoting Health Through Environmental Change 328
Eliminating Health-Damaging Features of the Environment 328
Augmenting Health-Promoting Features of the Environment 330
Voluntary Change Versus Legislative Policy 332
Economic Incentives for Disease Prevention and Health Promotion 334
Opportunities for Research in Social and Environmental Change 335
Considerations for Practice to Promote Social and Environmental Change 336
Summary 336 • Learning Activities 337 • Selected Web Sites 337

Index 340